Medicines New Zealand Value of Medicines Award 2017

Medicines New Zealand has been offering an annual award since 2011 to reward an outstanding piece of research into the Value of Medicines. Medicines New Zealand is the industry association representing companies engaged in the research, development, manufacture and marketing of prescription medicines.

Purpose

The Value of Medicines Award aims to support continuing advancement in medical science within the context of the healthcare system. The Award recognises innovative research which improves the understanding, effectiveness or safety of the use of medicines or vaccines in New Zealand within the context of public health or the healthcare system. The Award is to be used to support the continuation, or development of a new research programme into a related area of research.

Value

The Award will take the form of a single cash payment of $20,000.

Eligibility

- Researchers who are undertaking research in New Zealand.
- Individuals or research teams may be considered.
- The research must have been recently completed and published within the last 24 months.
- Research initiated by or financially sponsored by Medicines New Zealand or by pharmaceutical companies is not eligible.

Selection Criteria

- The prime criterion for the prize will be consideration of one nominated paper arising out of research carried out in New Zealand.
- The completed research will have to demonstrate a benefit to public health or the health care system, through improving the understanding, effectiveness or safety of the use of medicines in New Zealand.
- There must be evidence of peer review.

Special Requirements

1. The winner agrees to participate in all reasonable publicity associated with the Value of Medicines Award.
2. Completed research and proposed research will be presented at a mutually agreed meeting with Medicines New Zealand within six months of receiving the Value of Medicines Award.
3. The winner agrees to update Medicines New Zealand on the progress of the research one year following receiving the Award.
